The Chhatrapati Shiva Maharaaj Vastu Sangrahalaya (CSMV) has set up a museum in the city of Pune, India. The museum is dedicated to the preservation, study, and display of artifacts from the region's rich cultural heritage. The exhibits are organized around themes such as art, architecture, and history, with a focus on the Mughal and Maratha empires. The museum is located in the heart of the city, at 34, Viceregal Road, near the Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Vastu Sangrahalaya (CSMV). The museum is open from 10 am to 5 pm, Tuesday to Sunday, and admission is free for all visitors.

The museum's collection includes a wide range of artifacts, including weapons, textiles, and works of art that reflect the region's cultural diversity. Visitors can explore the museum's various galleries, each of which is dedicated to a specific theme or period. The galleries are well-lit, and the artifacts are displayed in a way that allows visitors to appreciate their historical significance.

The museum is a popular destination for tourists and locals alike, and it is an excellent place for anyone interested in Indian history and culture. Whether you're a history buff or just looking for a fun day out, the Chhatrapati Shiva Maharaaj Vastu Sangrahalaya is definitely worth a visit.
